*W*hat happens when you get country music stars together with some die hard fans, and then add a few dirt bike pros for the mix? You get an Xtreme Team Makeover; a charity ride hosted by country music's very own "Little Bit of Life's," Craig Morgan (65).

The Xtreme Team Makeover, featuring his most recent fundraising activities, was held in Vanleer, Tennessee. It was a charity event for the extreme as VIP's from far and near came to participate in the trail ride with celebrities, a luncheon, and a country music concert.

Morgan (Left) left nothing to chance as far as making sure his VIP's had a full plate of fun. In order to paint the prettiest picture, he added a little bit of Tracy Lawrence, Scott Reeves, and Aaron Benward from Blue County to his menu. Then as if they weren't enough, he topped it with a trail ride with Kevin Windham and Fred Andrews. Its initiative provided funding for Wounded Warrior, Catch A Dream, and it built an awning for a local elementary school.

Everyone hit the Chigger Run trails keeping company with stars like Kevin Windham (14) and Fred Andrews (10), who demonstrated their unbelievable talent play riding along side regional experts like PA Allen and Dustin Gibson. Up front, Bryan's Barbecue dished out enough grub to satiate even the largest of appetites. Then Morgan planted the icing on the cake by giving front row seats at the Renaissance Center. It featured Lawrence who painted one beautiful Birmingham and Blue County who sang "Good Little Girls" while Morgan sang "Tough" but also introduced a few of his upcoming songs. It was awesome. Contributing Sponsors were Mossy Oak, Real Tree, Ranger Boats, Pro Circuit, Oakley, and Fox. The VIP's were Jason Clay, Stacey Heeren, Beth Reynolds, Jesse Davis, Barry Heath, Michael Williams, and Eric Anderton, and contributing volunteers were, Mike Johnson with Fox Racing, Mark Bader with MSR, and Scott Voorheis and Jeremy Hannah with Trail Pass.

I'm sorry, but the picture were deleted from this file.
